Strategies

Do a little planning and thinking.

When going online try to use as specific terms as possible.

General terms like Cancer will result in too many hits. Instead, qualify the term(s) according to your search.

Example: Instead of “cancer” try...

- Breast cancer legislation
- Cancer in children
- Melanoma
- Renal cell cancer
- Kidney cancer
- Cancer environment
- Cancer genetic research

You get the idea.

If you are using a commercial database, try to become familiar with the subject terms they use. The database may or may not provide you with a thesaurus or hyperlinks to subject terms. Not all databases use the same subject terms.

Learn to use the advanced search engine features to help you limit searches.
