Professor Lori Vowels
lvowels@sullivan.edu

Professor Vowels serves as an undergraduate faculty member of the School of Accountancy. Courses instructed include principles, intermediate, and computerized accounting. She received her Master of Business Administration from the University of Louisville. She currently holds the Assistant Dean position for the School of Accountancy and focuses on building an encouraging, student supportive team. Before joining Sullivan University Systems, she worked in manufacturing, health care, and the horse industry.

In addition to her career at Sullivan University, Professor Vowels sits on the board of directors for a horse association in Kentucky. She enjoys riding horses and the sport of sand volleyball. And as life happens, she appreciates learning and believes each day we are given deserves to be a happy one.