By honoring the class of 1962-63 with a 20-year reunion celebration, the 1962 Homecoming of Sullivan Junior College was a very special event.

Homecoming week was action-packed as students, faculty, and staff "psyched" themselves up for the big night. The Cheerleader squad sponsored a week-long gala with a "Crazy Shoes and Socks" day, designed to help the Sullivan Executives basketball team to "give the boot" to Lindsey Wilson Junior College, the opponents of the Homecoming Game (for details see page six); "Crazy Hat" day, in which students and staff "tipped their hats" to the basketball team; and "Green and White Day", during which students wore the traditional Sullivan College colors.

Saturday evening's festivities kicked off with a wine and cheese reception for the class of 1962-63. Several graduates and staff members attended, including Miss Faye McWhorter, Sullivan's first librarian. Pictures from 1962-63 added to the nostalgic nature of the reception. Crew cuts and bobby socks, the order of the day 20 years ago, looked out of place as graduates in business suits looked over the pictures.

At 8 p.m., the Sullivan College Executives challenged the team from Lindsey Wilson Junior College. At halftime, the score was in Lindsey Wilson's favor, 21-21, but with a fierce competition during the second half, the Executives managed to beat the team 53-49.

As is traditional, the crowning of the Homecoming Queen took place during the halftime. Norma Edwards, a computer programming major from Louisville, was crowned the Queen for 1982. Patti Chinn, the Homecoming Queen of 1981, was standing by to crown her. Norma's Escort was Mark Winterheimer, a computer programming major from Floyd Knobs, Indiana.

Norma's court included 1st runner-up Jennifer Hoesa, a Business Accounting and Management major from Scottsburg, Indiana; 2nd runner-up Shauna Isgrigg, a Business Management major from Clarksville, Indiana; and 3rd runner-up Cindy Lawless, a travel and airlines major from Columbus, Indiana. Indiana residents should be proud of this court!

Faye McWhorter, long-time teacher and college's first librarian, enjoys reception for class of 1962-63 with Charla Adcock, Sullivan grad and past college secretary.

Dance 'til Dawn!

After the Homecoming Basketball game, the evening was capped off with a Homecoming Dance in the college cafeteria. The cafeteria was packed with alumni, students, faculty, and staff as they danced to the music of "ROADWORK," from Madison, Indiana. "ROADWORK," a high-powered band of five members, played almost non-stop from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. A mirrored ball suspended from the ceiling added a dimension of light hitting the dance floor.

The excitement is all there at Homecoming! Plan to be with us next year!
Record Enrollment March(es) On!

Ready to go! That is how the new March class shapes up as 100 new faces in the day division and 140 new faces in the evening division look forward to their new start at Sullivan College!

The day division students have had a one-day orientation behind them and are ready to go into challenging themselves and the faculty.

Registration began on March 24 and continued through the 25th. This March freshman class has some interesting statistics with 80% of the students having most recently graduated from high school. The other 20% composed of college transfers, foreign students, and veterans. The class ranges in age from 16 on up.

The states of Indiana and Kentucky boast the largest number of students with over 90% of the March class made up of residents of those states.

The introduction of the Word Processing Program has drawn several students who look forward to training in this fast-paced field (see accompanying story).

We welcome these new students and wish them the best in their careers at Sullivan!
Word Processing Program Prepares Students For Future

Beginning with the Spring Quarter, Sullivan Junior College has added a new program to its curriculum. The Word Processing Professional program helps prepare students for exciting and interesting careers in one of the most rapidly expanding aspects of business.

Versatile Program

The Word Processing program is one of the most versatile in the area. Students are trained on the Wang OIS system, the Lanier EZ-1 and the IBM Displaywriter. Wang, Lanier and IBM represent the vast majority of the systems used in the offices where Sullivan students will be placed. In addition, students receive training on two mag-card machines, the A.B. Dick Magna II and the IBM 6240. Consequently, students completing the Word Processing program are prepared to step right into the office situation with very little if any on-the-job training necessary!

The program centers around three basic courses in Word Processing: Word Processing Concepts, introduces students to the world of information processing and helps them understand the purpose and capabilities of word processing systems; Techniques I, which introduces students to the world of processing experience with a variety of different systems; and Techniques II, which allows students to begin to branch out and more fully explore the capabilities of word processing equipment and develop more creative uses for the systems.

Sullivan students practice on new Lanier EZ-1 Word Processing equipment.

Sullivan instructors Mary Snedeker and Pam Taylor handle teaching of the word processing courses. Each has been involved in the planning and developing of the Word Processing program over the past several years. Mary teaches the Concepts course while Pam handles the Techniques part of the program. Both Mary and Pam agree that the key to the program is teaching students to be creative with word processing systems and to be more than just "robots" in their operation of the equipment.

"The program is a fairly rigorous one," says Ms. Snedeker. "Students not only have to be proficient on the equipment, but also need to be strong in grammar, punctuation and proofreading. Our goal is to turn out a competent and creative word processing professional."

With the tremendous growth in the use of word processing in all kinds of business, the addition of the Word Processing program in both day and evening divisions opens up new opportunities for Sullivan graduates. Word processing is definitely in the forefront in business office operations and Sullivan students are right there with it.
France, The Land of Romance

Ahhh...Springtime in PARIS! What a way to spend a break between quarters! Travel students at Sullivan College have a wonderful opportunity to gain international travel experience. On June 14, many of them will start on a 15-day excursion to France.

Stephen Holman, the Coordinator of the Travel and Airline Program at Sullivan College, says that this trip will offer something a little extraordinary for the students. “What better way,” he says, “to learn about international travel than by doing international travel?”

Paris

The group will depart from the United States to London on June 14 and will stay in London for two nights. From London, they will depart for Paris, where they will spend three nights. As the travel brochure asks, “Europe’s most beautiful city? We’ll show you it is on morning sightseeing!”

Geneva

From Paris, the group will move on to Geneva, by way of an 8-mile long Mt. Blanc Tunnel, one of Europe’s engineering marvels. Next stop is Nice, for a two-night stay. Sightseeing in Nice will include the harbor full of luxury yachts, the old Roman city of Cimiez, and the Russian Orthodox cathedral. There will be a return to Nice for dinner after an afternoon excursion to the “perched village” of Eze and the resort of Monaco.

From Nice, the group will have one-night stops—overs in Nimes, Orleans, St. Malo, Caen, and, back across the English channel to Brighton. During a free evening in Brighton, the students may enjoy Brighton’s famous amusement pier.

Mr. Holman is starting a tradition with this French Trip: each spring he will plan for an international travel excursion. The students may elect to take the excursions for college credit if they pass a written examination based upon their trips.

The French Trip, at a cost of $1450, is a real bargain. Bon Voyage!
Sullivan Students “Hit The Slopes!”

Fast action, fun, and snow were the order of the day for Sullivan College’s annual ski trip to Paoli Peaks, Indiana! A good way to go downhill in a hurry!

Stoney Brown, admissions representative for the college, coordinated this year’s trip. “I was pleased to see so many people sign up for the ski trip,” he said, “it is always great fun when you have a large crowd—and many of these students have never skied, but they really attacked the hills!”

About forty students left for the trip on a Friday morning around 9:00. At 10:00, after arrival, they “suited up” and some of them took a lesson before getting on the slopes. “It is a really good idea to know a little bit about what you are doing,” says Brown, “before taking it on for real!”

The group skied and, in general, frolicked in the snow for the making of a winter wonderland. With wind and snow whipping in their faces, students were saying that the experience was exhilarating. Tim Cain, admissions representative for the College, reported, “I got soaking wet within the first hour of skiing, but it was so much fun that I had to keep going!”

Join us for next year’s ski outing!

Service and Leadership Are Focus of Sullivan Student Board

Strong leadership and a caring attitude toward the students characterize the Student Board of Directors of Sullivan College.

Recent elections placed Steve Potter, an Accounting and Business Management major from Louisville in the spot at Chairman. Other elected officials include David Barnes, an Accounting and Business Management major from Louisville as Vice-Chairman; Joy Koester, a Travel and Airline major from Borden, Indiana as Social Chairman; and Gina Able, a Data Processing Secretarial major from Shepherdsville, Kentucky as Secretary-Treasurer.

This new set of officers will lead the Student Board beginning in the Spring Quarter. These officers follow the leadership of Dominique Buel, an Accounting major from Prospect, Kentucky.

According to Steve Potter, the new chairman, Dominique's leadership greatly influenced the present direction of the Student Board. "She was always on the lookout for new areas of student services," he says, "We want to be able to do the same."

In addition to sponsoring student dances, the Student Board offers all types of student services. Each quarter, the Student Board sponsors a used book sale for students looking for used books to use in their course-work. "With the sale of used books," says Potter, "we hope that we can benefit both the buyer and the seller. And, of course, the Student Board takes a minimal fee for the service. With this fee, along with other fund-raising activities, we can venture into all sorts of areas of student services."

Tutoring

When a student needs a tutor for assistance in classwork, he or she may turn to the Student Board for help in locating one. The Board does not charge for this service. "If we can match a tutor with a student, then they decide what the fee is going to be. We act only as an intermediary," says Potter. "The tutoring system is an excellent supplement to Sullivan College's Plus Friday program in which a student may come in on Friday mornings to meet with the instructors for individual help."

Activities

When it comes to student activities, the Student Board continues to come up with fresh ideas. In addition to dances, the Board has sponsored a "Casino Night" each quarter. With faculty, staff, and students serving as dealers, the gambling (with play money, of course) is action-packed. One student played $15,000 of the play money into a fortune of a million and a half dollars!

Sullivan is fortunate to have the leadership of the Student Board of Directors. As Dominique says, "It is an excellent training ground for future leaders!"
Attention: Last Quarter Students

If you are in the beginning of the last quarter of your first-year specialization, it is not too early to plan to reapply for the second year of your Associate Degree. The Associate Degree carries with it a “plus” when it comes time to either move up in your present position or to interview for that first, full-time job.

David P. Higley, Dean of the College, agrees that the Associate Degree can be an important boost to your career. “Think about it,” he says, “the more training you go through, the better prepared you will be when it comes to competing in the marketplace!”

To begin the process of reapplying after your first-year specialization, see Dr. Coppock or Dean Higley. They will explain the quick steps to getting scheduled and to arranging the appropriate finances. Keep in mind that ALL OF YOUR FIRST YEAR SPECIALIZATION COURSES COUNT TOWARD THE COMPLETION OF YOUR ASSOCIATE DEGREE! The only exception, of course, is if you decide to go into another career field for the Associate Degree other than the one you specialized in the first year. Also, there are no additional registration fees or tests for the degree.

See Dr. Coppock or Dean Higley as soon as possible to get the machinery moving toward your brighter future!
Alpha Iota Flashes Fashions

What type of woman does it take to become a member of Alpha Iota, the international honorary business sorority, at Sullivan College?

Janis Scherer, the president of the Sullivan Chapter of Alpha Iota, says, “We look for women who are willing to work hard for the benefit of not only the school, but the community at large.”

To be a member of Alpha Iota, a prospect must have at least a 3.0 grade average (on a scale of 4.0) and must maintain the high ideals of the sorority. These ideals include service, leadership, and scholarship.

One Alpha Iota event that Sullivan students look forward to each year is the Annual Fashion Show, featuring students, faculty, and staff. Fashions are donated by local clothing stores and the “models” put on skits and provide glimpses of upcoming styles.

At this year’s show, students were entertained by many antics. The members of the legal faculty donned black robes over various fashions, including a bathrobe won by Mr. John Bauman, an attorney who instructs in the paralegal department.

Ms. Evelyn Reynolds, instructor in secretarial science, stole the show with a black robe adorned with homework assignments from shorthand students. Underneath the robe, she wore a lavender spring outfit.

Proceeds from the fashion show were donated to a group that works with mentally retarded children.

Alpha Iota is an exciting group to be a part of!
Jackson Is New Evening Dean

The administration of Sullivan College welcomes a new Associate Dean for the Evening Division: Dr. Tom Jackson, formerly the Associate Dean for the Day Division. Along with this new appointment, the duties of the Associate Dean for the Evening Division will be greatly expanded.

“By expanding the duties of the Associate Dean for the Evening Division,” says Dr. G. Stephen Coppock, Director/Vice President of the College, “we feel that we can tap a real growth potential in the evening division.” In his new role, Dr. Jackson will be the chief administrator of the evening division. He will supervise evening faculty and support staff, counsel evening students, and will conduct market research relevant to the growth of the evening division.

Dr. Jackson is excited about the prospects of the evening division. “The evening division,” he says, “can really serve the needs of the community.”

Dr. Tom Jackson looks forward to his new position.
Judge McConnell Addresses Sullivan Graduates

“The American worker must take pride in his or her work,” said Mitch McConnell to the 1982 graduation class of Sullivan Junior College. McConnell, County Judge/Executive for Jefferson County, Kentucky (the home of Louisville) addressed a near “packed house” audience.

The graduation program was an impressive one. Over 100 graduates attended the ceremonies with their families and friends at the Alumni Chapel of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky.

25 students received the coveted President’s Cup for Academic Achievement. This award signifies a grade-point average of 3.7 or above on a 4-point scale.
Faculty Focus:
An Evening With Vernon Johnston

What type of person teaches in the evening division of Sullivan College? Well, if seven proven years of experience has anything to do with it, then Vernon Johnston can certainly serve as a model. Through a unique blend of a positive outlook, a keen sense of humor, and a strong dedication to making a difference, Mr. Johnston makes good things happen in his classes.

Changes

In his seven years with the evening division, Mr. Johnston has taught a variety of classes ranging from Creative Selling, to American Economic History, to Executive Development. Having been with the college for some time, Vernon has noticed changes both in the institution and with the students. He notes, "When I first came here it was unique to have a female in a class. Most of the evening students were male military veterans. Students today seem younger, more enthusiastic, and sincere in their efforts to learn."

During the day, Mr. Johnston works for The Courier-Journal as the Manager of Special Publications. In his off-time, he enjoys being with his wife, Majie, and their two children, Jay, a junior at Trinity, and Jenny, a freshman at Male High School. For recreation, Versatile Vernon Johnston entertains while educating Evening Division students.

Mr. Johnston likes boating, swimming, fishing, and reading.

"Learn All You Can"

Drawing upon his teaching experience at Sullivan College and his business experience with The Courier-Journal, Mr. Johnston gives advice that is worth listening to: "Learn everything you can possibly learn. The business world needs people with developed skills and Sullivan College can serve as an integral part in the process."

Hats off to a real professional—Vernon Johnston.
Intramural Basketball Squad Finishes First

1982 was another good year for the Sullivan Junior College intramural men’s basketball team. Coach Tim Marlette led his charges to a first place in the tough Metro Parks league with a 9-3 record. While not large in numbers, this year’s team was more than adequate in talent and hustle. Team members Swopes Thompson, Reggie Carney, William Smith, Darrell Phillips, Tony Duke, Dennis Terrell, Marvin Travis and Ron Wallace continually demonstrated the talent present among the Sullivan student body.

In addition to finishing first in league play, the intramural squad made it to the semi-finals of the City tournament before being upset in overtime by a tough Shamrock team. Congratulations go to Coach Marlette and the entire intramural basketball team for a job well done.

New Directions From Black Student Union

Students at Sullivan College are always developing new ideas to serve the student body. Lynn Murrell, a Private Secretarial student from Louisville, and George Briggs, a Business Management student from Louisville, decided that minority students at Sullivan College could be helped through a specially developed student organization: the Black Student Union.

The Black Student Union does not limit its services to just any one type of student. "Any student who needs help may find it through our group," says Lynn, "we do not want anyone to feel that our services are just for a few students."

What is the purpose of the Black Student Union? According to Lynn, the President of the group, the BSU has several purposes. "Our group is determined to exhibit dignity, honor, achievement, and unity," she says.

Effects...

The effects of the Black Student Union reach far past the school itself. Lynn says, "We do not feel that we have an effect just upon the school but upon our community also. By setting and reaching our own goals, we are demonstrating to youths that you can succeed, but you must work toward accomplishing anything in life—nothing comes easy."

David P. Higley, Dean of the College, supports the goals of the Black Student Union. "It is refreshing," he says, "to see a newly formed organization take on as its major goal getting students involved in the livelihood of the student body as a whole."

Thanks to Lynn and George and good luck to this new Sullivan student group.

Bowlers First In NLCAA—Again!

Sullivan Junior College bowlers are beginning to make a habit of winning national championships. This year’s entrants won the National Little College Athletic Association’s title making it four out of the last six for the men and the second straight for the women.

Rex Speer led the Sullivan men’s team with a 577 series and was followed closely by the other members of the team: Darrell Phillips, Alan Hanselman, Mike Crenshaw, and Brent Stephens. The team total of 2814 was 255 pins better than the second place team.

The women’s team was composed of Kathy Elkins, Cindy Lynch, Sonia Waggoner, Barbara Bentley and Carol Glunt. Kathy Elkins spearheaded this year’s champions with a 555 series.

Congratulations to this year’s championship teams for continuing the outstanding tradition of Sullivan Junior College intercollegiate bowling!
Dedrick Chandler: All-American, All-State and All-Tournament Selection

Dedrick Chandler has been a Sullivan Exec for only one year, but in that year he has made quite an impression on players and coaches in the area. The 6'7" center-forward impressed the Kentucky Junior College Athletic Conference so much that he was named the second best player in the conference and a member of the 1981-82 All-State team.

Two Conferences

Sullivan participates in two different athletic conferences. In addition to the KJCAC, the Execs are members of the National Little College Athletic Association. The recent NLCAA national tournament offered Dedrick another opportunity to stand out. Although the Execs did not get to the finals of the tournament (as they do most of the time!), Dedrick managed to earn All-Tournament and All-American honors with his play. Dedrick became the 12th Basketball NLCAA All-American for Sullivan. Coach Dave Skinner was extremely pleased for Dedrick. "He's an outstanding player and an outstanding young man. It's a real tribute to him that he earned so many honors in one year. It's been a real pleasure being associated with Dedrick for the past year."

Dedrick has had several offers to continue his playing career at four-year colleges including an offer from Kentucky Wesleyan, a team which is always a contender in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' national tournaments. All of us at Sullivan wish Dedrick the best of luck in his future career and congratulate him on a very successful year at Sullivan Junior College.

Execs Finish Year With 19 Wins!

The 1981-82 basketball season proved to be one of the most interesting and exciting in recent history.

Fast Start

The Execs started the season with a sterling 3-0 record including wins over Henry Ford (Michigan) and rival Lindsey-Wilson Junior College. In addition, the Sullivan team fought to a second place finish at the Queen City Classic in Cincinnati, Ohio against teams from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. The play of first year players Anthony Denning, Butch Geary, Steve Jones and Dedric Chandler promised good things to come for the Execs and their fans.

The middle of the season brought a number of highs and lows for this year’s squad. Despite losing the services of Denning and Geary at different times during the year, the Execs still managed to end up in second place in the state junior college conference. Perhaps the highlight of the second half of the regular season was a hard fought Homecoming victory over Lindsey-Wilson for the second time during the year. Particularly pleasing performances during the latter part of the season were turned in by freshmen Steve Jones, Maury Burks and Paul Bennett.

Tough Tournament

The Execs travelled to Oakland City, Indiana for the 1982 NCAA national championships. Having won the national title four previous times and finishing second two more times, the Sullivan team went into the tournament with high hopes. Unfortunately, the Execs ran into a fired up squad from Warren Wilson College, a four-year college from North Carolina, and went down to a 76-61 defeat. The tournament, like the season, was not, however, without some high points. The play of Dedric Chandler was good enough to earn All-Tournament and All-American honors and the Sullivan cheerleading squad was judged the best in the tournament (see related stories on this page). In addition, the outstanding play of Steve Jones was good enough to make most All-Tourney teams.

Bright Future

Despite a 19 game winning season, the Execs are looking forward to even more success next year. With the return of veterans Steve Jones, Paul Bennett, Maury Burks, Bobby Joe and James Singleton combined with a good recruiting year, next year's Sullivan basketball team looks forward to challenging for another national championship. Our congratulations go out to Coaches Skinner, Smith and Frank and the entire Execs’ squad for another good year. We will wait anxiously for next year.
Cheerleaders Chosen Number One At NLCAA Tournament

The Sullivan spirit has once again been demonstrated at the recent National Little College Athletic Association's national championship tournament. This year's edition of the Sullivan cheerleading squad was named number one at the tournament in Oakland City, Indiana.

Two out of Three

This year's award was the second in the last three years for Sullivan cheerleaders. The 1980 squad was named best of the tournament also. Julie Padgett, this year's advisor, was extremely pleased with the award. "We really worked hard this year," said Julie. "It's very satisfying to have someone recognize the team for their efforts and especially rewarding to be recognized at a national level."

The 1981-82 national championship squad includes: Julie Edelen (captain) from Springfield, Kentucky; Bonnie Sans from Georgetown, Indiana; Marcie Roberts from Hayden, Indiana; Teresa Edwards of Albany, Kentucky; and Pam Clem and Tracyle Thompson, both from Louisville. Also on this year's squad but unable to participate in the tournament was Lori Stouffer from Sellersburg, Indiana.

Sullivan has traditionally had outstanding cheerleading squads and this year's group was no exception. Congratulations to Julie and the entire cheerleading squad for an outstanding year and a great tournament!
