Sullivan Trains You Quickly—For A Secure Future And A Good Job
(ISN’T THAT WHAT A COLLEGE EDUCATION SHOULD DO?)

Job oriented classes leading to a top position in one-year or less are the main objectives of students who enter Sullivan Business College. Its collegiate atmosphere and down-to-earth studies help each of its students reach a desired goal in a very short time. "When I entered Sullivan," said Debbie Ullery, a Louisville Durrett High School graduate, "I was interested in preparing for a good job in a short time, and I didn’t want to take all of those liberal arts courses you have to take at most colleges."

"I was interested in the free job placement and the security I would get from the lifetime review and placement services," said Ronda Orman, a graduate of Charlestown High School in Charlestown, Indiana.

STUDENTS GIVE FIRST IMPRESSIONS

As each of the students began their college classes for the first time, the noticeable first impression was friendly and modern atmosphere followed closely by the coolness of central air conditioning. As this reporter observed the new students at Fresh Orientation, the enthusiasm seemed to overwhelm me. Regardless of the co-sion of the orientation and class presentation, everyone seemed set on a career goal which they knew they would achieve in the very near future. Dennis Devo, Henry County High in Henry County Kentucky felt "the smallness and personal touch makes the difference Sullivan." Debbie Savage, a Fairdale School graduate, seemed to agree: "A small school with advantages."

Yes, Sullivan students do “like it here”. The individual interest shown in each student along with the enthusiasm of the administration and faculty make the difference. We feel that you would like it here too.
"The Home Of Sullivan College"

The modern, air-conditioned classrooms at Sullivan are located in the Lincoln Federal Building at Fourth and Chestnut Streets in downtown Louisville. Its office and classrooms occupy the fourth floor, in this, one of Louisville's most modern office buildings.
“Education For Careers in the Seventies” — Sullivan Facilities Meet the Office Test!

Set in a modern atmosphere, in one of Louisville’s most modern office buildings, Sullivan College exemplifies business education of tomorrow. The centrally air-conditioned classrooms, filled with the very latest business equipment, give the student an atmosphere of the modern business office he or she will enter upon graduation.

Believing that students learn best under modern, well-lighted conditions, President A. O. Sullivan has continually purchased new business equipment and has worked to keep classrooms modern and up-to-date. During the past few months nearly half of the manual and electric typewriters were replaced with the very latest models. In continuing his efforts to make Sullivan a most modern business college, additional purchases of later-model, manual and electric typewriters are planned.

In addition to using the very latest typewriters, students use the most modern dictaphones and business machines. Students entering IBM operation or computer programming receive hands-on training on the most modern of IBM computers and data processing equipment.

Only a visit to Sullivan College can truly give you a picture of what a modern professional school of business can do for you and for your financial future. To bring your future into focus, plan to visit Sullivan and see for yourself what the business office of tomorrow will require.
New College Dormitory—Really a Great Place to Live

Students attending Sullivan from outside Louisville have a wonderful dormitory residence available. A very modern, centrally air-conditioned residence, this co-ed facility features private and semi-private rooms, with a kitchenette and T.V. room on each floor.

The central core area has a huge formal lounge with color T.V., stereo, grand piano, wall-to-wall carpeting, and luxurious furniture. Adjacent to the lounge area is another kitchenette, snack bar, and a recreation room with pool, ping pong and other recreational facilities. Sullivan students have a full service cafeteria and gym available for good eating and recreation. In addition there is a private study area with individual study carrels to provide that important privacy needed.

A private courtyard enables sunbathers to acquire that important tan and has an outdoor charcoal grill for outdoor cooking. We think the students attending Sullivan have available one of the finest and most modern dormitory facilities in the Kentuckiana area. For this reason students wanting to stay in this full service facility are encouraged to contact the college early in their senior year to arrange for reservations. It really is a great place to stay and a good place to mature and grow while you prepare for a secure future at Sullivan.

This ultra-modern, centrally air-conditioned dormitory is home to over 100 Sullivan students. Applications for reservations are encouraged early in your senior year.
SECRETARY - STENOGRAPHER

PAM NELSON, a Secretary-Stenographer with Brown and Williamson Tobacco Company, is a graduate of Sullivan and a graduate of Louisville Shawnee High School. While at Sullivan Pam took the Private Secretary Course and completed it in just nine months.

Pam would not have been able to attend college anywhere without financial help and the financial aid office at Sullivan provided her with a College Work-Study grant which enabled Pam to earn her tuition by working part-time after school. Even working part-time she maintained a B+ average through graduation.

Prior to her graduation Sullivan arranged an interview with Brown and Williamson and shortly after graduation Pam entered her position at B & W.

Good salary, exceptional benefits and plenty of room for promotion. Another Sullivan graduate on the way to the top.

MEDICAL SECRETARY & ASSISTANT

CHERI STEVENS, a Medical Secretary and Assistant for Dr. Alvin Osterm in the Louisville Medical Towers is a graduate of Sullivan and a graduate of Waggener High School. While at Sullivan, Cheri completed the Medical Secretary Course in less than one-year because of her exceptional skills and advanced placement for previous work completed.

At Waggener, she completed Shorthand I and II, Office Machines, and Business English with an A average. This strong background enabled her to receive advanced placement and complete her program early. While attending Sullivan, Cheri maintained a straight A average.

Midway in her medical program Cheri accepted a part-time medical position offered by the Sullivan Placement Department. Several months later when Cheri near the completion of her course, she accepted a full-time position in the same office and began her full-time position with Dr. Osterm immediately. Each day she finds the training she had with Sullivan's RN medical instructor to be of great value in her chosen profession.

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

KATHY FELL, a graduate of the Professional Executive Secretary Program at Sullivan, is Executive Secretary to the Sales Manager of Tafel Electric and Supply Company in Louisville, Kathy is a graduate of Holy Rosary Academy and she entered Sullivan in June shortly after her high school graduation.

In high school Kathy completed typing I and bookkeeping I. In an effort to be the very best secretary possible, Kathy took the Professional Executive Secretary Program and upon graduation had achieved an A average. While attending Sullivan Kathy received financial assistance through the Federal College Work-Study Program and earned over one-half her tuition through this part-time work.

In just one year she completed her program and entered her present position. Kathy is just another example of desire and hard work being rewarded with success.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER-SYSTEMS ANALYST

JAMES HERBIG, a Computer Programmer-Systems Analyst with Metridata Computing Inc., earned his exceptional success through hard work and proven ability. Jim is a graduate of Jasper High School in Jasper, Indiana and he entered Sullivan in the fall of that year to study the Computer Programming curriculum. Jim invested one year at Sullivan, graduated and began his moves to success in the programming field.

Jim's movements, always upward, in the Data Processing Field have today put him into a Systems Analyst position with the Metridata Computing Corporation. Upon leaving Sullivan, he worked at St. Joseph's Infirmary, American Air Filter and American Standard as a computer programmer. He then moved to his present position at Metridata.

ASSISTANT - TO-THE-PRESIDENT

TONI AHLBRAND, a graduate of Sullivan and a graduate of Seymour Senior High School in Seymour, Indiana entered his first position in June as Assistant-to-the-President of Planned Growers Incorporated. Planned Growers is a division of Life of Kentucky and is a marketing and investment firm. In employing Toni, President William Vixing said, "I want you to work right beside me. Whatever I am doing I want you to do, so that when I leave town for a few days you can fill in the details of my job for me."

An opportunity such as this goes to but a few and Toni proved worthy of this position through his attitude, personality and grades. Toni entered Sullivan in June shortly after his high school graduation and took the Business Accounting and Management Course for one year. His strong high school record prepared him to enter almost any college but Toni had his mind set for business college and immediately after graduation entered Sullivan to pursue his goal.

Toni is just another example of a Sullivan graduate off-and-running on an exciting business career.
LEGAL SECRETARY

LINDA CARTER, a Legal Secretary with the law firm of Robert A. Metry, is a graduate of Sullivan. Linda completed the one-year Legal Secretarial program, after her graduation from Valley High School.

Wanting to become a Legal Secretary, Linda chose Sullivan over a regular college because of the short completion time and the Sullivan placement service. While attending school Linda was on the College Work-Study Program and gained valuable legal experience in her part-time job at the Legal Aid Society.

While in high school Linda had only typing I and entered Sullivan as a beginner in all of her other subjects. Just one year from her entrance at Sullivan she entered a challenging Legal position with a top salary and many benefits. Linda was placed in her position two weeks before graduation and began the Monday after her graduation.

OFFICE ASSISTANT

SANDRA ASHBY RIGGS, An Office Assistant and management trainee with the well-known furniture and decorating house, Hubbuch Brothers and Wellendorf, is a graduate of Sullivan. Sandy is a graduate of Shelbyville High School and attended Western Kentucky University and Centenary College before entering Sullivan.

While in high school Sandy had only General Business and Typing, but after two years at the four-year colleges decided that she was interested in entering business. The key factor in her decision to enter business was her engagement and planned marriage.

While at Sullivan she achieved an A+ average and graduated in one year with a diploma covering data processing, accounting and management. Immediately upon her graduation the Sullivan placement department sent her to Hubbuch Brothers and she began work as an office management trainee and accountant. An immediate Sullivan success story.

A business college with all these extra activities? Why? This question is asked by many surprised seniors when they are informed of the many different activities at Sullivan. But you really shouldn't be. You see . . . the administration at Sullivan believes that there is more to college, even a career training college, than just classrooms.

Here at Sullivan, those students who have the interest and time find many outlets for these interests and talents. Just to give you a few examples here is a list: Take your pick. Community service projects such as the Red Cross Blood Drive and the Crusade for Children—Collegiate Sports - Basketball, Baseball, Bowling, Cross Country (Sullivan has won three National Little College Basketball Championships in recent years)—Of course Varsity Cheerleading and a Pep Club to boost the sports program—An Honorary Fraternity and Sorority for honor students—A Student Government Association, for the politically minded—An Award Winning College Newspaper—A Yearbook Staff—Intramurals (Co-ed of course) and an active social program of dances, and other activities for fun and enrichment.

All in all you can find your thing at Sullivan to enable you to grow in maturity and have a good time while you learn. Your year at Sullivan will equip you for a good job and give you a chance to participate in activities at the same time.

Why not join us next year as your choice for a college education? We train people for good jobs and you could have one in less than a year. Mail the enclosed card today for further information and a full color catalog.
